LUMBER FIRM LOCATES HERE

Wholesale Supply Business To Operate on Quarry Street and Ballentine Ave.

Establishment of a wholesale lumber supply firm at Quarry street and Ballentine avenue was announced today by H. E. Webster, assistant secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

The firm, the Lumbermen's Supply, Inc., has acquired by lease the old feed mill property on the southwest corner of Quarry street and Ballentine avenue and is acquiring by purchase a tract on the southeast corner of the intersection extending east on Quarry street and south to the Erie railroad, Mr. Webster said.

The company already has taken over the old feed mill building, a frame structure formerly used by the McMillen Feed Mills Inc. of Ohio as a warehouse, for temporary offices and will be open for business immediately, according to Harley G. Roby of Minerva, O., president of the company.

Expansion Planned

Mr. Roby said the company plans to expand its business by constructing wholesale distribution warehouses on the purchased property with facilities to unload supplies direct from rail cars to the Erie railroad switch. He said the number of warehouse units to be constructed would depend on future economic conditions. The warehouses will be used for the wholesale distribution of lumber and building materials, including roofing, wallboard, insulation board and other building specialties. Many of the company's orders will be shipped direct from the mills to the buyer, Mr. Roby stated.

Surveys now are being made for transfer of the property to the new firm. Mr. Roby said the company was in the process of purchasing the old feed mill building from the Paramount Poultry Co. of Philadelphia, Pa. The land on which the building is located has been leased from the Erie railroad.

Negotiated Through C. of C.

Negotiations for acquisition of the site have been under way between company and Chamber of Commerce officials since last November.

Mr. Roby plans to move his family to Marion as soon as housing facilities are available. He formerly was associated with the Industrial Wholesale Lumber Co. of Cleveland. O. F. Kline of Crestline is vice president of the company and Louis B. Conkle, Marion attorney, is secretary.

Robert B. Boger of Ashley will be warehouse manager. He formerly was associated with the Jackson Lumber and Coal Co. of Ashley.

U.S. REPORTED READY TO DEFEND JAPANESE

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, May 7—Authoritative but unofficial Japanese quarters said today that General MacArthur told Emperor Hirohito the United States would guarantee to defend disarmed Japan.

Both official American and Japanese sources declined to comment. The story seeped through the wall of secrecy into Japanese government circles shortly after yesterday's meeting between MacArthur and Hirohito.

Hirohito called to thank MacArthur for Japan's new "anti-war" constitution, which strips the emperor of his ancient authority.

MacArthur proposed recently that an early peace be signed, and the task of occupation be turned over to the United Nations. Reliable sources said this had caused the emperor concern.

They said he advised MacArthur there was considerable Japanese concern because it was believed the United Nations is not able at present to guarantee Japan's protection [illegible]

CITY NOMINEES NAMED IN LIGHT PRIMARY VOTE

Total Only 1,497; Watters Wins Close Republican Solicitor Contest.

In the lightest vote within the memory of close election observers, Marion yesterday selected party nominees for the city election next November.

Only 1,497 votes were cast—1,008 Republican and 489 Democrat.

For the most part the nominees went into the primary without opposition. The low Democratic total is accounted for by the fact there were no contests on this ballot.

Republican Mayor Harry L. Dowler was given a complimentary vote of 932 to again place him at the head of the G.O.P. ticket next fall. Karl Dune, truck and transfer line operator making his first entry into politics, was given 463 votes for the Democratic mayoralty nomination, the highest number cast for any candidate in his party.

Solicitor Contest Warm

In the two principal Republican contests, for solicitor and council-at-large, the three-way race for solicitor turned out to be the hottest event of the day.

John W. Watters, present police prosecutor, won the nomination, beating Paul G. Simpson, his closest rival, by 19 votes. Watters polled 354 votes, Simpson 335 and Hugh E. Kirkwood Jr., 304.

The issue between Watters and Simpson was not settled until precinct A of the Sixth ward, and the twenty-seventh of the 30 precincts to report, gave the winner 27 votes to 9 for the second place candidate. With only four precincts remaining to report the vote was tied at 298.

Simpson Leads at First

Simpson went into an early lead as the tabulation of returns started and maintained it until the half-way point in the counting. The tide swung back and forth during the remainder of the tabulation with Watters leading Simpson by one vote with 20 precincts reported. With 25 in Simpson had regained the lead by nine votes. The issue was settled in Watter's favor, however, when the twenty-seventh precinct reported.

Outcome of the seven-way race for Republican council-at-large, with three to nominate, did not long remain in doubt. By the half-way mark in the tabulation the three winners, Harold F. Robinson, Charles R. Pennisten and Newton D. Cunningham, had taken substantial leads which they maintained throughout the remainder of the vote count.

The candidates lined up in this manner:

Robinson 558, Pennisten 444, Cunningham 434 (the winners), C. J. Roberts 340, Malcolm Severns 333, Charles H. Tate 252 and Floyd J. Fate 210.

Robinson now is councilman from the First ward. Pennisten is present councilman-at-large and Cunningham is a newcomer in politics. Two of the losers, Severns and Tate, now are serving as councilmen-at-large.

Ward Council Results

In the three Republican contests for ward council posts Arthur H. Dowler with 126 votes beat D. A. Tonguette with 58 in the First ward; Clarence K. Salter, incumbent, polled 47 votes to defeat Richard F. Langdon with 26 in the Third ward; and Clarence Sanden, incumbent, received 134 vote to win over Curtis W. Long with 112 in the Sixth ward.

Votes for other candidates, all unopposed, were as follows:

Council president—William G. Slack (Inc.-R) 886, Dr. George W. Pfleiderer (D) 443; treasurer—Harry D. Cahill (Inc.-R) 910, John W. Sekinger (D) 447; auditor—Elmer Shaw (Inc.-R) 900, no Democratic candidate; Democratic solicitor, Frank C. Gegenheimer 440; Democratic council-at-large—Robert G. Burton 372, Otis R. McCloskey 359 and J. R. Youngblood 367 (all nominated).

Other than the contests the ward council vote was as follows:

Primary Cost Figured At $1.67 a Vote

Yesterday's primary election cost Marion approximately $1.67 a vote, according to figures at the Marion county board of elections office.

Election board officials estimated election costs, including salaries for precinct workers, ballots and supplies, at $2,500, and the total vote cast was 1,490. Officials said the election was one of the most expensive in recent years.

SHERIFF TO QUESTION NICHOLS IN SLAYING

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., May 7—Sheriff Roy Dailey hoped to obtain from Lester Nichols today his version of a bedroom shooting that killed a 76-year-old minister and wounded Nichols and his wife. The shooting occurred at West Newton which is in eastern Allen county near the Hardin county line.

Mrs. Lewis Whitaker, widow of the clergyman, has said that Nichols fired the shots in a quarrel with his estranged wife.

Nichols, a 42-year-old junk yard operator from Silver Lake, Ind., was incoherent in Lima Memorial hospital last night and Sheriff Dailey abandoned efforts to question him. Nichols has a head wound and his condition is serious.

The man's wife, Nora, 44, is in a critical condition in the same hospital. She received five bullet wounds in the shooting at nearby West Newton early yesterday morning.

Mr. Whitaker, pastor of the Pentecostal Church of God in West Newton and father of Mrs. Nichols was shot in the heart after Mrs. Nichols had been wounded. He had tried to stop the Nichols' quarrel in his home.

Nichols' son Melvin, 24, is being held as a material witness. He was released on bond yesterday.

BOB HOPE PROGRAM CUT OFF FOR FIVE SECONDS

Reference To Another Air Show Brings Silence.

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, May 7—A radio network was nettled again last night by one of its high-priced comedians, Bob Hope, and gave him the silent treatment, briefly.

NBC gently faded Hope off the air for about five seconds after he said to his guest star, Frank Sinatra: "I will be seeing you tomorrow night, Frankie, on your show."

A National Broadcasting Co. spokesman said Hope had been asked to delete the name of another network from his script but during his show engineers heard the comic leading up to this reference and so cut him off. Sinatra's new show will be broadcast by Columbia Broadcasting System.

The NBC spokesman said it is their policy to avoid mention of other radio networks. Recently Fred Allen's NBC show was cut off the air when he made [illegible]

GOP Open To Truman Talks

Parley on Labor Bill To Await Results of Senate Vote.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—Republican leaders left open today the question of talking over labor legislation with President Truman.

The signs are that any G.O.P. willingness to compromise will depend on the margin by which the senate passes its pending bill.

With Democratic opponents generally conceding defeat, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) led a drive for a final vote Friday on the measure which would outlaw the closed shop, authorize government injunctions to halt national emergency strikes and curb union practices in a manner critics have called drastic.

Speech To Delay Vote

A lengthy speech by Senator Morse (R-Ore), who opposed some features of the bill, seemed likely to put off a showdown until late today or tomorrow on an amendment backed by Taft which would lay down restrictions on industry-wide bargaining by national unions.

Taft predicted its adoption.

Senator Murray (D-Mont), who has fought it, agreed that a Republican - Democratic coalition "has the votes" to write this provision and some other Taft-supported amendments into the bill.

Forecasts Bill's Passage

Taft forecast passage of the measure by a "substantial" margin. It seemed apparent that the width of that margin will determine the future course of the bill's backers.

If they roll up a vote indicating they have a good chance to get the necessary two-thirds to pass the measure over a veto, there probably will be no attempt on their part to see the President and discuss the measure's terms with him.

But if the approval vote falls short of the two-thirds, then supporters may be willing to try to find out—while conference committees are working out differences between house and senate measures—what Mr. Truman is prepared to accept.

FEW CHANGES SEEN IN TAX CUT MEASURE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—Top Republicans on the senate finance committee indicated today that few changes are likely in the "20-30" house bill cutting individual income taxes some $4,000,000,000 a year.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) summoned the committee into a session behind closed doors to begin detailed consideration of the legislation. In two weeks of open hearings the group heard recommendations of the plan from industrialists, heavy criticism of it from the CIO, and a declaration against any tax reduction whatever at this time from Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

Millikin said there is no doubt the senate committee would take the house bill as a pattern, but he also noted that there is a wide difference of opinion as to when the cut should take effect.

The house bill would make the reduction retroactive to last Jan. 1, but important elements within the committee contend the date should be set forward to July 1, the start of the new fiscal year.

The bill which came over from the house, endorsed by a 273 to 137 vote, provides a 30 per cent tax reduction for persons whose income after exemptions is $1,000 or less, 20 per cent off for the vast majority with incomes between $1,396 and $302,000, and a 10.5 per cent cut for top bracket taxpayers.

Some talk has been heard in the senate of narrowing the wide bracket which would receive the 20 per cent cut, by pulling down the upper limit from $302,000 to $100,000 or $150,000.

VICTIM OF FAMILY TRAGEDY. Eighteen-month-old Lawrence Skeens, hit by gunfire which killed his mother, Mrs. Nora Skeens; an aunt, an uncle, and a cousin, is shown as he lay critically wounded in a Louisa, Ky., hospital. He died later. Posse members trapped and killed his uncle, Oliver Hurley near Wayne, W. Va. Sheriff Robert L. Brown said Hurley, a former Marion resident, committed the slayings during a wild shooting orgy near Fort Gay, W. Va.

Isaly Union Votes Contract Approval

A revised union contract with the Isaly Dairy Co. was unanimously approved by members of the Isaly Dairy Unit of Local 750, UAW (CIO) when they met late yesterday, according to an announcement today by Edward Duck, international representative of the UAW.

Mr. Duck said the contract, which provides for wage and hour adjustments, would be signed within the next few days. Approval of the contract followed several weeks of negotiations between the union's executive committee and company officials. Approximately 25 of the 36 union members attended yesterday's meeting, Mr. Duck said. The new contract was dated April 25.

Under the terms of the contract, according to Mr. Duck, union members will receive pay increases ranging from 15 to 25 cents an hour. Vacation provisions call for six days' vacation for employes with one year's seniority, nine days for employes with two years seniority and 12 days for employes with three years seniority.

Retail drivers do not figure in the wage increases since they are paid on a salary and commission basis, Mr. Duck said, but he added the company agreed to provide the drivers with Sundays off as soon as the plant is moved to its new location on East Center street.

Other terms of the contract provide for a union shop and a check-off program for paying union dues out of members' checks; retroactive to March 14, the expiration date of the old contract and time and one-half after 48 hours. The company is not covered by the wage and hour contract.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself, eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Fat Lady Brings Load of Grief To American State Department

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, May 7 — A lady has brought the state department a load of grief.

Pictures, nudes, fat and part of a circus, are one of about 70 paintings which the department bought for $49,000.

James Marlow

The department sent the paintings abroad for other peoples to see how life is in America and the kind of art we produce here.

This was meant to create good-will and respect for us. But it was only part of the department's information and cultural program.

Some people in this country saw a copy of the fat lady picture and started screaming to their congressmen.

She doesn't represent life in America. And who said it's art?

An art expert in the state department had done the buying of the pictures. Department officials now think this was a bad idea.

"No More Paintings"

They say: We should have let a committee of outside experts do the picking for us. No more paintings will be bought.

But they say the government won't lose money on the deal that art galleries here may buy the pictures for $49,000 or more.

A lot of congressmen are in a mood to kill the whole information and cultural program. Maybe they will.

The art show, and particularly the fat woman, have given them a lot of fuel for the fire they're building to destroy the program.

The program's purpose is to get good-will for us among other peoples by telling about life here and what our foreign policy is.

The job is done through radio broadcasts, news bulletins, pictures, magazines, books. Over 2,000 people work on the program.

This year it's costing $19,000,000. For next year the department wants $31,000,000. Congress may let it have only part, or not a dime.

Every week, through short-wave broadcasts in 25 languages, the department shoots out 400 hours of programs.

These include straight news, features and information about America.

Documentary films in 20 languages are sent to about 83 countries on such things as making steel or autos or fighting tuberculosis.

About 15,000,000 people a month see these films.

The officials say that nowhere do they compete with commercial films.

Libraries—attached to American consulates or embassies in 41 countries — have been stocked with 100,000 books, mostly in English.

Daily the department sends out about 7,000 words of news by wireless to 40 U. S. embassies and consulates.

These in turn distribute free copies of these news reports to newspapers and organizations in their territory.

Those are the highlights of the information and cultural program.

O.W.U. To Observe Monnett Day Program Over Weekend

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, May 7—One of Ohio Wesleyan university's richest traditions will be observed on May 9, 10, and 11 when the Wesleyan co-eds hold their annual Monnett Day program to crown their May Queen, observe Mother's Day, and honor the leaders of the women's organizations on campus.

This year's festivities promise to be as modern as 1947, yet still retain some of the gracious charm of those first Monnett Days at the beginning of the century.

Friday night, a Mother-Daughter banquet will be held in all three of the women's dormitories, and followed by receptions. Later in the evening, the University music and dramatics departments will present Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera "Iolanthe" in the high school auditorium.

Saturday is the actual Monnett Day. In the morning, an audience of approximately 700 mothers and daughters will be on the main campus of the university to hear a band concert and watch a May Pole dance presented by the Modern Dance club. Then comes the highlight of the festival.

Following the traditional procession of the co-ed leaders, last year's May Queen will crown her successor, and the new Queen and her court will observe a special program planned in their honor.

Louise Hicks, a junior from Melrose, Mass., newly elected president of the Women's Student Government association for the coming year, will receive her crown in the impressive coronation service. Her court will be comprised of all the leaders of women's organizations on campus.

In the afternoon, the annual style show will be given. This is sponsored by the Home Economics Department, and the co-eds will model garments which they have made throughout the year. This year's show will be a fantasy entitled "From Sub-Deb to Co-ed."

Again Saturday night, visitors and students will have the opportunity to see "Iolanthe."

This traditional program will be climaxed Sunday morning when President H. J. Burgstahler presents an address at an all-college convocation in Gray Chapel.

State roads in Marion, Morrow Delaware and Union counties are among 40 road improvement projects on which the state highway department received 136 bids, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus.

Contractors overlooked the largest single project on the department's list, a million-dollar bridge and grade crossing elimination in Massillon. The department is planning to readvertise the project as soon as possible. Work is to be done in cooperation with the army engineers, Baltimore and Ohio railroad, Pennsylvania railroad and Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad.

Local roads on which work will be done are state routes 257, 521, 231 and 529 in Delaware, Marion and Union counties for which the Lester Baker Co. of St. Joseph, Ind., was low bidder with an estimate of $38,097 for bituminous treatment. The highway department had estimated the work would cost $43,170.

For bituminous treatment of state routes 529 and 314 in Marion and Morrow counties the Fenton Construction Co. of Ashland bid $25,852, compared to the department's estimate of $29,920.

Successful bidder for bituminous surfacing work on state routes 37, 739 and 347 in Marion and Union counties was C. E. Edgington and Son Co. of Findlay with a bid of $32,594. The highway department estimated work would cost $35,962.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Tooth Disorders

Unfortunately, the work people do sometimes has a bad effect on their health. But in the light of present medical knowledge more of these hazards can be avoided if only they are recognized and proper preventive measures taken.

Dr. Lyman D. Heacock of the National Institute of Health, Washington, D. C., discusses some of these in the International Medical Digest. He points out that a number of conditions affecting the teeth and mouth may develop in certain industries.

For example, in certain types of work, dusts are produced which have an abrasive or wearing quality. These dusts over a long period of time may have an ill effect on the tooth enamel. These include such materials as sand, aluminum hydroxide and a red substance known as hematite.

Then, too, softening of the tooth structure may be due to the action of certain acids. Sulfuric acid, nitric, phosphoric and hydrofluoris acids have a direct action not only on the enamel of the teeth but upon the dentin within the teeth. Exposure of the teeth directly or indirectly to these substances may result in tooth damage.

An acid dust may occur in the atmosphere in some industrial plants which sooner or later has a dissolving effect on the tooth enamel.

There are certain chemicals which may discolor the teeth such as chrome, which stains them yellow, and copper which causes a green color. The gums may become discolored as a result of certain minerals getting into the body such as mercury, bismuth, lead and nickel.

Then, too, inflammation of the mouth tissues may result from the action of many substances. For example, mercury may cause sore gums and inflammation of the lining membrane of the mouth. There may be ulcers or sores on the lips, and on the floor of the mouth produced by the action of chromate fumes. Exposure to benzene may produce bleeding of the gums, ulcers of the lining membrane of the mouth and even, destruction of bone tissue. The effects of cadmium poisoning are well known to many people. These include destruction of the hard and soft tissues of the mouth.

In preventing these mouth disorders, an effort should be made to remove the cause and, of course good hygiene of the mouth is important. This means keeping the teeth clean and well cared for.

Any ulcerations in the mouth or gums should be cleared up. The teeth and mouth should be regularly examined and any abnormal conditions found, corrected at once. This, of course, means regular visits to the dentist.

X-Ray Overdose Affects Your Grandchildren

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 7—A world-renowned scientist—Indiana university students call him "Mister Mutation"—believes the medical profession is permanently damaging the American life stream through the unwise use of X-rays.

"There is no dosage of X-rays so low as to be without risk of producing harmful mutations," Dr. Herman Joseph Muller, Nobel prize winning geneticist told me in an interview.

Hal Boyle

Mutations are inheritable changes in physical characteristics caused by changes in the genes, the infinitesimal keystones of heredity that keep us in the image of our ancestors.

Dr. Muller, a small balding man of middle age, is the first man in history to show that these changes in the pattern of heredity can be artificially induced. He did it 21 years ago by subjecting fruit flies to changes in temperature and radiation.

3-Winged Flies

He thereby produced fruit fly offspring with such new inheritable characteristics as three wings, a changed eye color, or a shortened life expectancy. He proved that such mutations are recessive and mostly deleterious—that for every such change which improved the fruit fly breed there were hundreds that hurt it.

His experiments also indicated that any artificially induced change was permanent, dying out only when the line of descent died out. It is for this reason that Dr. Muller urged a more careful use by the medical profession of X-rays.

"Mutations happen naturally all the time," he said, "but a heavy dosage of X-rays may speed up the rate of a million fold in a given period."

Criticizes Sterility Treatment

He was particularly critical of the use of X-rays to produce fertility in women long sterile.

He said that Medical men who employed such treatments were ignoring the certainty that X-rays in the required dosage would produce harmful mutations among the patient's descendants.

"Most mutations are not spectacular," he said.

"That is, women treated in this manner probably won't start anything so dramatic as a line of two-headed children. But they will hand down slight weaknesses hard to put your finger on, such as inability to stand high or low temperatures, a shortened life expectancy, a reduced bodily vigor.

May Wait 5,000 Years

"The mutation could show up in the next generation or perhaps not for 5,000 years. But the mutation is permanent and the damage is permanent. It remains until the line dies out by reason of that disability. And since we make every effort to keep people alive and reproducing, that may be thousands of years."

Dr. Muller and his colleagues have grants totaling $181,000 from the Rockefeller foundation, Indiana university and other sources to further genetic studies and research in cancer.

The little scientist said genetic discoveries were "meeting resistance from the medical field—they are just being shoved aside."

He recommended that doctors employ more care to protect patients against secondary radiation from X-rays potentially damaging to gene structure.

Compared with A-Bombs

"It is up to the X-ray men to take the same caution as the atomic scientists do," he observed.

Other experimenters have found that other agents, such as mustard gas and certain coal tar chemicals, also produce harmful mutations. But you don't have to worry about marking your grandchildren by personal overindulgence in drinking and smoking.

Dr. Muller found that alcohol and nicotine had no tendency to produce mutations.

Fatalities Increase On State Highways

Death on the highways is taking fewer holidays this year than last, according to figures released by headquarters of District A of the state highway patrol which covers 24 northwestern Ohio counties, including Marion county. During the month of April this year over the entire state 33 lives were lost as a result of highway accidents.

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT

Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief, in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment, sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

"The Voice" Needs Money

SECRETARY MARSHALL says America's cause cannot be reported aright unless $31,000,000 is appropriated to continue the "Voice of America" short-wave foreign broadcasts. With this appropriation already tentatively cut from the budget he met Monday with congressional leaders and broadcasting officials to press his fight.

America's short-wave broadcasting program was a large and ambitious one during the war. At the beginning of 1945 it was the most elaborate of any nation's. Since the war it has been rapidly reduced, and now, unless Secretary Marshall wins his point, America will become a voiceless giant in these days when some very penetrating voices are speaking up for attention.

One wag has said the Russian portion of the "Voice of America" project is "spreading the bull before the Red flag." Some opponents of the entire project say it follows the lines of propaganda activities carried on by Axis states before the war. So it does, to some extent, but this is an age when every firm of any size has its public relations bureau to present its case to the public. We Americans believe we have a product worthy of export but we'll never develop a market for democracy abroad unless we advertise.

All Under One Roof

SENATE banking and currency committee clearance of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill doesn't mean this controversial proposal will be enacted by the 80th congress. But if the opponents who killed it in the 79th congress apparently can commit murder again will look twice, they will discover that more than housing is under the legislative roof this time.

Senator Taft's support of the bill has become a tense issue in party politics. If the Republican party decides to repudiate its strongest congressional leader on his long-range proposal for doing something about the country's long-range housing deficiency, more than housing will suffer. The party will have advertised its decision to shun a kind of liberalism so mild that Senator Taft can support it without compromising his conservatism.

The Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill, which has been grossly misrepresented by a great many persons who never read it and know nothing about it, is an attempt to tie together, define and broaden numerous federal efforts to overcome the national housing deficiency. Its goal is 15,000,000 new dwelling units by 1958. Its procedure is to stimulate construction with private capital by guaranteeing safe and adequate returns. Its theory is that the United States cannot afford to let the devil take the hindmost in competitive enterprise; that the minority which can't keep pace with the competition for adequate housing must be looked after by means of an inclusive federal housing program—not federal housing, but a housing program.

For obvious reasons, the building industry is opposed to federal housing programs at this time. It doesn't need them. But let another slump come, with the industry all stocked up and no place to go, and there would be a clamor as of a million carpenters nailing on sheathing for federal programs galore. The Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill is a proposal to get organized now, with a view to getting somewhere by 1958.

Beyond Atomic Fission

TO MEMBERS of the American Physical Society, now convening in Washington, atomic fission already is old stuff. Now science's trail-blazers, far ahead of the pack, are dipping gingerly into the field of sub-nuclear physics. What they will find is still indefinite, but the formulas evolved and the figures read off slide-rules indicate that somewhere in the vicinity is a source of power thousands of times greater than atomic fission.

Sub-nuclear physics apparently has the same relation to atomic physics that calculus has to algebra. It's more complex, having to do with protons and neutrons, the elementary particles which comprise the nuclei of atoms.

Today's far-ranging pioneers in physics may be toying with the Pandora's Box that will release new and undreamed of sorrow on the world, may even end the world, for all we know. Or they may be on the verge of opening new and beautiful vistas for us all. Your guess is as good as the next man's.

Stalin's Words Do Not Fit His Deeds.

WASHINGTON, May 7—The Stassen-Stalin interview was interpreted as a Russian expression of willingness to cooperate, but Stalin's words did not fit any recent Russian deeds. The incident, therefore, received only perfunctory public attention.

What actually happened, however, was that our press and radio played the obvious instead of the significant thing. Down deep within the interview were two news developments which seemed rather sensational. These may assume a critical future importance. They are.

1—Stalin repeatedly asserted and sought to prove the systems of the United States and Nazi Germany were the same. When Stassen contended a great difference existed, Stalin said only in government, but no difference in economic systems. Stassen then sought to say we had no imperialism, state monopoly, and oppression of the workers which were the evils of Nazi capitalism. Naively Stalin concluded this trend of the talk by saying one should not criticize his own system.

Both Stalin and Stassen were in error. Hitler's basic principle was National Socialism, the same as Russia's, but ours is a system of democratic capitalism in the form of a republic. Hitler built a military empire, which enforced Socialist totalitarianism, with trappings exactly like Russia's, including censorship, worship of nationalism, isolated internal finance, barter in international trade and so on.

Stassen was not far off the facts when he mentioned imperialism, state monopoly and worker oppression as differences, but he woefully neglected to mention the main differences such as freedom of the individual and enterprise, freedom of business, commerce and trade, freedom of capital, freedom of minorities and opposition, which make us as different from Nazism as daylight is from complete darkness. Stassen mentioned only three of the many consequences of the real basic differences. This portion of the interview sounded as if it had been conducted by two men in another world, a world without facts, or only partial facts.

Our system, of course is highly competitive to draw out the best for the people. Nearly all industry and business have rivals. We are against monopoly of any kind, including monopoly by the state, which is the sole doctrine of Russia and the Nazis.

The distortion of this easily observable condition by Stalin shows a desire to classify us with Russia's enemies. Stalin assigns us a place with the hated Fascists. Unjustly and distortedly he puts up with the leading enemies of his system. His purpose is not made clear, for he once signed a cooperative treaty with the Nazis.

2—Stassen disclosed what may be the key platform of his announced presidential campaign. He prophesied "the regulation of capitalism." Occasionally he spoke of this almost as if it had already occurred. But we have just recently dropped most war regulations, and now retain only rent and sugar control (temporary), and such minor government economic restraints against a generally free economy.

Meaning Not Clear

Whatever he meant was not clear. Do you mean management of production, Stalin asked. No management of capitalism (sec?). You must have wide and strong government powers for that? Yes. (But we do not have these.) Apparently Stassen visioned an avoidance of a postwar depression by a high economy level which would lead into a managed capitalism, the dimensions of which he did not mention.

Stalin, however, clearly was looking for us to have a depression, and he was surprised by Stassen's statements to the contrary. The Russian diplomatic strategy has blocked any stabilization of peace which would aid us, in expectation that we would suffer some kind of collapse, perhaps like Britain's, plunging us into confusion, while Russia romped to international control over our weakness.

Here again Stalin and Stassen talked outside the facts, Stassen apparently trying to convince Stalin his hopes of an American depression are unfounded, with a prophecy which seemed possibly to foreshadow a development in the American postwar system or in domestic politics—the management of capitalism.

Apparently both Stassen and Stalin should have interviewed Truman.

Just a Minute

Uncle Moe Is Just Around The Corner

"There's no need kidding ourselves. The nation is already in the midst of a depression," declares an official of the Brooklyn and Queens Pawnbrokers association. "Our business is booming."

Yes sir, one man's meat is another man's pawn ticket.

And, with most economists warning that a recession is in the offing, the hock shop is again prepared to take its place as a center of community life. Already, in fact, the three golden balls are blossoming where but lately flourished places where a citizen might get something for his money instead of vice versa.

"We're beginning to see old faces again, customers we haven't seen in years," added the pawnbroker's spokesman, giving the impression that there is nothing more welcome, following an era of prosperity, than the reappearance of one's foul-weather friends.

Yes, business is picking up in loan shark circles, and quite different it is from the war years, too, when everything was going out and nothing coming in.

Times are getting worse and so business is improving but some pawn brokers regret it. Say what you please about boom times, they have their redeeming features.

Lines of Compromise

By RAYMOND MOLEY

IT may be that the restrained note of hope in the Marshall and Dulles reports comes from a belief that the Moscow meeting hinted at, but did not declare terms of a compromise. As the speeches are studied and all things are considered, the eventual deal with the Soviet Union appears to be something like this:

First, as to reparations: The Soviet people insist on $10,000,000,000. Through this figure they probably hope to delay peace until they have thoroughly worked out the German prisoners they still hold. The work of these prisoners will net Russia two or three billion dollars before peace is made. Marshall suggested that we would give Russia something out of current German production. Since the Russians must have lost hope of making anything out of the removal of plants and equipment from western Germany, they will probably settle for an amount out of production which is equal to what they expected to get from equipment. The original schedule for that was between one and two billion dollars. That may be the figure they will eventually get out of production. The United States will have to help Germany produce that amount. Thus, by putting money and materials into Germany, we will be indirectly paying Russia. That may be a better way to reach a settlement than the proposed direct loan or gift.

Frontiers Question Next

After a settlement on reparations is made, the question of frontiers can be attacked. Two readjustments would seem to be essential to making Germany a going concern. Neither would injure Poland. The city of Stettin is practically the port of Berlin and its industrial area. Poland certainly does not need it, since many other ports are now in Polish territory. Poland can not profitably use Stettin as a port.

An additional concession might be a strip of land east of the Oder and up to the frontier of Upper Silesia. This would not need to be more than a few miles wide, but it would greatly help in the reestablishment of economic life in the area northeast of Berlin.

The Austrian settlement was held up by the claims of Yugoslavia to Carinthia. This is clearly an unjustifiable claim which was introduced by Russia merely for bargaining purposes. Yugoslavia would probably settle for some portion of the German current production allowance.

The Russian claim to "German assets" in Austria refers to oil wells recently found there and some are lands and mines. This claim could and probably will be settled by giving Russia some part of the current production of these resources.

Capital Site Important

The political issue of a centralized or a decentralized Germany is in part a question of where the capital will be. Dulles energetically pointed out that a central government heading up in Berlin would put "all the German eggs in one basket." The main objection is that Berlin is in the Russian zone. Here again, compromise is quite probable. The administration of the new Germany could be moved west to some such city as Hanover. Or a part of the administration could be in Hamburg and a part in Berlin. That was actually done in 1919-1920, when there was fear of a Communist uprising in Berlin.

Since the Americans want more independence for the German states, it might be possible to permit conflicts between state and national governments to be settled by appeal to the Allied Control council until some satisfactory supreme court could be established.

All these compromises are no doubt already in the minds of the foreign ministers. Some time may pass before they are realized, but all are within sight.

Egyptian Bibles

One of the first languages into which the early church missionaries translated the Bible was the Coptic, the native language of the Egyptians in New Testament days. Like Latin, it has long been a dead language, but like the Latin Bible in the Roman Church, the Coptic Bible is still the official Bible of the church which produced it, the present Coptic Church in Egypt.

Gap Not Bridged for England

By STEWART ALSOP

LONDON, May 7—Any one of the hundreds of thousands of American soldiers who came to know London well during the war years would probably be surprised by the aspect of the London of 1947. He would be surprised, not because London is different, but because it is so much the same. Here are the same bombed-out buildings; the same drably dressed people, who seem, in their monotone clothes, to fade into the background of the monotone buildings; the same inedible bread sausages and the same muddy thick soup (always the same, although called by an infinite variety of French names); the same unwashed windows and unheated houses and curious people, so many of whom seem to have stepped right out of a bad Hollywood comedy about English types. There are no more sirens, no more hordes of GIs in Eisenhower Plaatz, but for the rest the London of 1947 is in all outward aspect the London of 1943 or 1944.

Yet there is a difference. The bombed buildings during the war had a slightly sinister air of courage and defiance. Now, with weeds sprouting in the mud, they are just messy. The dull clothes of the people then seemed a badge of their dogged endurance. Now they are just dreary. The spirit of durable gayety which made London, despite the bombings and whisky at $16 a bottle, the best leave town in the world, is gone. London is dull, dull and infinitely sad.

Significant

All this has its political significance, of real importance to the United States. The first instinct of any American who makes for the first time the dreary bus ride from the airport at Heathrow to the center of London is to ask himself how long these people are going to be able to carry on like this. How long are they going to be able to live this miserably monotonous existence, and still bear the heavy weight of remaining a great world power? The answer to that question may spell the difference between success and failure in the new, determined American effort to contain Soviet expansion.

The economic situation which lies behind the drabness of postwar England is in its essence simple enough. After the war, with heavy debts replacing foreign investments, the only way the British people could survive was to export finished goods for food. But they could not instantly convert their industries and begin exporting. Therefore, the United States, essentially because the United States could not afford to see England cease to become a great power (not at all because Shakespeare was born here) lent England close to four billion dollars to bridge the gap between the end of the war and the time when the export program would begin to take up the slack.

The sad fact which is now staring England in the face (and will soon confront America) is simply that the loan is not going to bridge the gap. Aside from a small fringe of fervent optimists, that is the opinion of the vast majority of economists and other observers with whom this reporter has talked.

Some alarmists doubt that the loan will last much more than a year. Optimists hope for two more years. The best estimate seems to be that the end of sterling exchange restrictions, plus the fact that there is now more to buy with the dollars, will increase the rate of expenditure so that the last dollar will have been spent some time in the autumn of 1948. Barring a miracle, very few observers believes that by that time England will be exporting enough to pay for what she needs.

The reason is not far to seek. This country's economy simply could not survive another crisis like that of this winter, when the coal ran out and industry came to a standstill. Therefore, to save coal for next winter, industries are being limited to 65 per cent of their coal needs for this summer. In other words, there will be a partial stoppage this summer to guard against a total stoppage next winter. This stoppage will further slow down the lagging export drive. Estimates vary, but there seems to be good reason to believe that by the time the last dollar is spent, there will be a gap between exports and imports of more than a billion dollars.

This gap can be filled in either of two ways. The British can tighten their belts to the backbone, and proceed to lead a sort of caveman life, which will make their present drab existence seem like lush times. An inevitable corollary is an almost total withdrawal from British world commitments, with disastrous implications for the whole American foreign policy.

The other ways of filling the gap is almost equally unpleasant, for it depends on the United States. It does not necessarily presuppose another government loan, with the bitter feelings such a loan would surely arouse. (The British reaction to the loan is interesting. What was considered in the United States a gesture of rather fat-headed generosity is regarded here as the closest and most merciless Yankee horse-trading.) But it does presuppose the untying of some of the strings attached to the loan, probably American backing for credit to England through the International Bank, and above all a firm partnership agreement on foreign policy, in which the United States would agree to support some of the heavy economic commitments which Great Britain cannot afford until her economy is again on its feet.

Such measures will be attacked in the United States as the bolstering of the decadent British Empire. They will be attacked here as the hiring out of Britain as a paid mercenary to America. It is possible that either American or British opposition will make such a partnership impossible. If that happens, the future of the Western effort to contain Russian expansion looks very dark indeed.

The Sirloin Steak

"Sirloin steak $4."

That's what the menu appeared to say put on our glasses. It still seemed $4. We the head-waiter. "What is this figure beside the steak item?" we asked.

'Four dollars,' he replied.

"It is not a typographical error?" we

"No," the head-waiter replied. We had a graphical error here once and are very now. It resulted in something being $2.75."

"Now this steak," we pressed. "There's ing imported about it? It didn't come fr mine or an estate or anything."

"I think not, sir. Maybe you would lamb chops."

"No, we couldn't get a cow to pose glass of scotch."

"No. Our fried chicken is very good, sir."

"This four-dollar cut of steak is not graphed by James Mason, Hedy Lamarr, Tierney, President Aleman of Mexico or Foster Dulles?"

"No. Maybe you would like liver and on

"It is not a first edition steak?"

"I guess not. Our corned beef is nice."

"This four-dollar steak has no value collectors' item?" we persisted.

"No. You're thinking of the filet mignon."

"The steak items at $4 which are so pre at Ye Olde Camphor House, Yee Rural Gyp and Ye Colonial Shambles intrigue us" we on. "Is there any jackpot associated with

'Jackpot?'

'Yes. I mean when a customer comes acro for four dollars for a steak does he get a on any furniture or jewelry?'"

"Look, I can get you an order of tripe," the waiter

'One moment,' we demanded. "As an hone man did you ever see a sirloin steak worth a person

'I am a waiter, not an appraiser, sir, replied. 'We have roast beef with . . .'

'Do you realize that not long ago a man buy a whole cow for $4?" we went on. "Do know that many a restaurant was started $3.25? Do you know that the older Armour this start on a little over four bucks?"

"How about a short order of corned hash," groaned the waiter.

"Back to the $4 steak," we shouted. wouldn't be from the cow that jumped over the moon would it?"

"I am willing to admit our $4 steak is from a relatively minor jumper,' said the waiter weakly. 'Would you be interested in some fried eggs?'

"Be a man," we urged, "and tell me why any restaurant should charge $4 for a steak?"

"Don't you know there's a PEACE ON?" was the reply.

WELL, Herb Hoover has got his name on that dam again. Mr. Ickes took it off in the early New Deal days. He renamed it Boulder Dam after first making sure there was no Republican of prominence named Boulder. Now justice has been done and it is Hoover's Dam again. Lighter Housekeeping

By TRUMAN TWILL

In the absence of the lady of the house, a few improvements in housekeeping techniques have been suggesting themselves, chiefly improvements in the handling of dishes.

By conservative estimate, an hour a day consumed getting dishes to and from the table and in and out of the dishpan. This is an unnecessary waste of time, not to say effort. Any industrial engineer would know exactly what to do about it.

He would install a conveyer belt system between the kitchen and dining room to carry the dishes from the cupboard to the dining room table. The same system, in reverse, would carry dirty dishes from the dining room back to the kitchen, through a tube in which they would be laundered with boiling water and dried by compressed air, and deposit them in a collection basket at the end of the line.

With this system in use, a family—in the absence of the lady of the house—could sit indolently at the table until the last dish had clattered off the end of the line into the collection basket, then stroll out to the kitchen and put the stuff away.

Also instead of making 43 trips to the table to put on knives, forks, spoons, ketchup salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, carving knife, vinegar, glasses, dishes, side dishes, saucers, cups, napkins and so on, one person would load the conveyor belt at one end while another unloaded it at the other end.

Once the belt system had been demonstrated in the culinary department, it would sell itself for other uses in the home, such as getting things upstairs from downstairs and vice versa. Conveyer belts would take empty tin cans to the trash department and bring up logs for the fire. A flip of a switch would whisk unwanted articles to the attic.

Conveyor belts could be pre-loaded, ready for action. Early in the evening, a bottle of milk and a plate of cookies might be placed on the belt running to the old man's bedroom, ready for delivery when he finished reading in bed and decided he was too hungry to go to sleep. A bucket of ice cubes and a carton of soft drinks could be preloaded for the living room. Housekeeping would be a game.

We are accepting bids on a couple of miles of conveyer belts. When the lady of the house returns, she will get a real surprise. A conveyer belt will pick her up and deliver her to the kitchen, where a pile of dirty dishes will be waiting.

Utah 21-Year-Old Tastes First Food He Can Remember

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 7—Jack Park of Orem, Utah is 21 years old but this week he tasted and swallowed the first food he can remember.

When he was an infant, Park swallowed lye while his mother was doing the family laundry. For a few years he was able to swallow small amounts of liquor but when he was five, scar tissue blocked off the esophagus, the food passage connecting the mouth and the stomach.

During the last 16 years Park took nourishment at three-hour intervals through an opening into the abdominal wall leading into the stomach.

On March 21 he was admitted to the University of Illinois research and educational hospital. An operation made possible the passage of a braided surgical silk down his throat. This opening was enlarged gradually and this week Park swallowed and tasted his first food in 16 years.

His diet is limited now to liquids but hospital authorities predicted he would be able to eat almost all foods within a few months.

Racing Dates Allotted To Buckeye Speedways

Edwin J. Bath, state fair manager, disclosed today dates had been allotted to the Buckeye Speedways of Marion for "big car" racing on the state fairgrounds half-mile track either May 10 and 11, or May 24 and 25, The Associated Press reports.

He said the promoters had not advised him which dates they planned to use.

Should rain cancel the chosen date, he said, two days a week later will be set aside.

Bath said the state would receive 15 per cent of gross receipts under a contract similar to one granted Don Zeiter of Bedford for midget car racing on a quarter-mile track.

SOUTHERN PINE SEEN AS NEWSPRINT HOPE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—Chairman Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) of a special house investigating committee said today more mills of southern pine lands could "go far toward solving the problem" of newsprint scarcity.

Present resources are enough to permit the output of 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons, Brown told reporters. That is nearly half the American consumption, now fed primarily from Canadian and Newfoundland mills.

If eroded and unused land were planted in pine, and scientific methods practiced, the Ohio lawmaker said, all domestic needs could be met—if enough factories were built to process the pine into pulp and paper.

He said there would be at least two great advantages, aside from ending the shortage:

1. America would be independent of outside sources in wartime.

2. The south would be helped from the standpoint of employment and new industry.

Canadian newsprint now costs $91 a ton. Brown remarked yesterday, as his special newsprint committee opened hearings on the entire newsprint problem, that in more normal times the south can manufacture the paper for less than $50 a ton.

The chairman said "there is no reason of God's green earth" for the recent boost of Canadian newsprint to $91. He predicted that the Canadian producers will regret it in time.

VISITS U. S. Wife of Hungary's president, Mrs. Zoltan Tildy arrives in Washington, D. C., on two-fold mission. The Hungarian first lady is in U. S. to thank Americans for helping her country and to find a pattern for establishing "children towns" in Hungary for war orphans.

Jr. C. of C. Makes Convention Plans

Plans for the delegation which will attend the state convention next week were discussed when the Junior Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday night at Republican headquarters. The state meeting will be held May 16, 17 and 18 at Hotel Carter in Cleveland. The delegation will be headed by Duanne Wiseman, president of the Marion group.

Copies of the "JayCee Booster," publication of the Marion Junior Chamber, will be entered in a contest with other local publications throughout the state. Results will be announced at the convention.

Raymond Coleman, chairman of the safety committee, reported copies of the comic safety booklet, "Peter and the Whiffle Hound," had been received and will be distributed to children in grades one through six in public and parochial schools of Marion. Weather is proving a stumbling block in preparations for an air show the group had planned to sponsor June 15, the aviation committee reported. Preparations of the field were impeded by the damp weather of recent weeks.

Progress reports were made by the softball committee and by Richard Lister, public health chairman, who reported on general results of the cancer drive. The board of directors will meet Tuesday night at Republican headquarters.

SAYS MAY PRESSURE FOR GARSSONS USED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—Levin H. Campbell Jr., wartime chief of army ordnance, testified today at the May-Garsson war fraud trial that ex-Congressman A. J. May used pressure on him in seeking favors for Garsson war firms.

Campbell made the statement when defense attorneys questioned him closely on his testimony that May, former chairman of the house military committee, often called him in behalf of the $78,000,000 Garsson munitions combine.

"Did you consider that pressure was being put on you?" asked Warren MaGee, counsel for May.

"That was my impression," Campbell replied.

The defense has contended that May was only seeking to spur war production in interceding for the Garssons.

Campbell's affirmative reply to the "pressure" question came after the government read into the record evidence that May used Secretary of War Patterson's name in urging the army to give an "E" award to a Garsson firm in 1945.

Arabs Stand Firm On Boycott of UN Session

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 7—An Arab spokesman said today the Arab higher committee of Palestine would stand on its decision to boycott United Nations debates on the Holy Land but that the Arab countries would continue to participate in the UN discussions.

Dr Charles Malik, Lebanon, added that the Arab nations "were vitally interested" in formation of an inquiry commission for Palestine and as United Nations members naturally would take part.

Malik declined to speculate on what action the five Arab countries would take in the event discussions veer away from that particular subject.

The Arab position became known off the floor as the general assembly's 55-nation political committee began consideration of an American proposal that the UN establish a small neutral inquiry commission without Big Five representation.

Soviet circles disclosed that Russia would fight for the inclusion of the Big Five on any such body.

Faith Healer in Action At Millionaire's Home

By The Associated Press

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., May 7—A millionaire vintner's seven-bedroom home became the scene today for attempts by Avak Hagopian, bearded young Armenian faith healer, to cure the wine producer's invalid son.

The estate of the father, Krekor Arakelian, an immigrant Armenian who came to California and turned grapes into a fortune he estimates at $10,000,000, is known as "Dream of the Desert."

There his son, Vaughn Arakelian, 37, ill with epilepsy and related ailments since he was struck by a bus as a boy of nine, lies unaware of the forthcoming ministrations of Avak, 20-year-old uneducated mechanic who reputedly has effected miraculous cures by prayer alone.

Abad arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on his 10,000-mile plane trip from Cairo, financed by the elder Arakelian who said he has spent $250,000 in unsuccessful efforts to heal his son.

"I have seen other cases similar to his, many cases undoubtedly worse, and I am sure I can cure him," said Avak when he arrived at the Los Angeles airport.

SCHOOLS ASKED TO IMPROVE TEACHING

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 7—Dr. Clyde Hissong, state education director, pointed today to prospective pay increases for Ohio teachers and called upon schools to keep their end of the bargain by providing better teaching and ending raids on colleges for half-trained instructors.

He offered a five-point program intended to relieve "the acute shortage of qualified teachers" after a series of five regional meetings with public school and college officials.

The meetings were held last month in Kent, Athens, Oxford, Lima, and Columbus.

Dr. Hissong's program:

1—An improved employment and placement practice that "will prevent placing a teacher in any position irrespective of his training and certification.

2—A strong teacher recruitment program that "will interest many of the better high school students to begin college training for a career as a professional teacher."

3—An end to "the practice of raiding Ohio colleges of students who have not completed their training." (Dr. Hissong said about 200 a year were taking teaching jobs in this way."

4—Refusal to hire "any undertrained or certificated teacher until there is sufficient evidence of the impossibility of filling the position with a fully qualified teacher."

5—Early replacement of undertrained and temporarily certificated teachers "who have the least training and who have taken no additional training."

BOND ISSUES VOTED IN MORROW COUNTY

Mt. Gilead and Cardington School Proposals Carry.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, May 7 — School bond issues for construction of new school buildings in Mt. Gilead and Cardington passed by substantial majorities in Morrow county's two elections yesterday.

The $300,000 school bond issue in Mt. Gilead received a vote of 630 for to 213 against. A 65 per cent majority was required. The project will include the construction of a new grade school building and gymnasium north of the present high school building.

The grade school building will provide 12 additional classrooms and the gymnasium will have a seating capacity of 1,200. Work will not start until building materials are available, school officials said. The bond issue will be financed by a three and one-half mill levy to run for 20 years.

The Cardington vote was 6[illegible] for and 214 against. The $190,000 program calls for construction of a new gymnasium and the remodeling of the present gymnasium into additional classrooms. Work will not start until building materials are available.

The portion of Richland township in Marion county in the Cardington school district gave the proposal 40 favorable votes to 6[illegible] against.

No Soap Opera on Mars, Radio "Ham" Discloses

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7 — If Mars is trying to communicate with the other planets by radio, Grote Reber figures he should pick up the message.

So far, however, he's heard no strains of a Martian soap opera, a senator's speech or even a dot-dash signal.

"They just don't seem to be trying to talk to us," Reber said.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of (hemorrhoids) as a mild disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: Indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

PUBLIC STRIKE BAN STUDIED

Senate Debates Herbert-Asked Bill To Stop Govt. Employes.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, May 7—The ...day took up a measure ...ikes by all public em... ...e house acted on the ... budget bill.

...omas J. Herbert called ... of the anti-strike ... as the result of a high... ...s' walkout which pre... ...ration of state vehicles ... Jackson.

"...nt to see a repetition ... occurred at Jackson," ... a press conference. ... great mass of pub... ...ees' agreed that while ... right to quit, they ... have the right to strike against the government. He said a legislative policy on such rights should be enacted.

Absence Considered Strike

The senate anti-strike proposal provides that all public workers —including school employes—absent without approval of their superiors shall be considered on strike, and their employment terminated.

Strikers could be rehired at no higher pay but could not receive raises for three years and would be on probation for five years without tenure. Inducing others to strike also would be cause for dismissal.

House Republicans called a caucus in advance of the budget bill vote in a move to forestall any amendment attempts from the floor.

Leaders said they particularly wanted to prevent any change in the amount for schools, now $83,000,000 a year. The Ohio education association is conducting a high-powered campaign to get back $5,000,000 lopped off by the house education committee from the $88,000,000 sum approved by the senate.

Cancels Engagements

The governor said he had canceled all but two out-of-town engagements and planned to devote his time to seeking early adjournment of the legislature, now in its 18th week with major work unfinished. He has been criticized for devoting too little time to legislative matters.

The house liquor control committee last night recommended passage of a senate-approved measure exempting taverns from a 91-year-old law banning sale of intoxicants within two miles of state and county fairs.

The senate liquor control committee earlier ditched a measure by Sen. George G. Shurtz (R-Cosnocton) to permit cities to set early closing hours for bars, but recommended passage of a proposal by the senate liquor investigating committee to have various licenses of individual taverns expire on the same date.

Financier Begins Jail Term for Draft Dodging

By The Associated Press

LEWISBURG, Pa., May 7—Serge Rubenstein, 36-year-old millionaire international financier, was in federal penitentiary here today serving a two and one-half year term for draft dodging.

Rubenstein was convicted last month after a 36-day trial on five counts involving draft evasion. U. S. District Judge J. F. T. O'Conner sentenced him to two and one-half years on each count, the terms to be served concurrently, and fined him $50,000.

W. H. Hiatt, warden at Lewisburg penitentiary, disclosed that Rubenstein was brought here from New York Sunday.

LOUISE HOMER

SINGER'S RITES SET AT ROLLINS COLLEGE

By The Associated Press

WINTER PARK, Fla., May 7—Funeral services for Mrs. Sidney Homer, who as Madame Louise Homer was a leading contralto of the Metropolitan opera company for more than two decades, were planned today in the Rollins college chapel.

Mrs. Homer, who was 76, died of a heart ailment yesterday.

Prior to the public rites to be conducted by President Hamilton Holt of Rollins college, services will be conducted for members of the family.

Burial will be at Lake George, N. Y., where she and her husband, a noted composer, lived for 35 summers.

Mrs. Homer had been ill about five weeks. Her husband, son and four daughters were here at the time of her death.

Moose Lodge Names Convention Delegates

Delegates and alternates to the state Moose lodge convention in Canton in June were appointed at a regular meeting of Marion Lodge 889, Loyal Order of Moose, Monday night in the Moose hall on South State street.

Lodge Governor Klingel announced plans for starting another membership drive within the next few weeks and a discussion was held on a meeting of the Legion of the Moose to be held tonight in the Moose hall. A potluck supper will be served at 7 o'clock followed by entertainment.

Five applications for membership were read and approved.

Postoffice Reminds Lottery Mail Illegal

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—The postoffice department, saying there has been a "decided increase" in violations since the war, issued a reminder today that it is against the law to use the mails to promote lotteries.

A department statement said this applied to bingo games, raffles and similar enterprises, as well as larger lotteries such as sweepstakes.

Violations carry a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and two years imprisonment. Offenders also may be denied delivery of mail.

Death Toll From Rheumatic Fever Called Controllable

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 7—Rheumatic fever, which kills about 40,000 Americans annually, could be controlled to a great degree by close cooperation among parents, teachers and physicians, says Dr. Alexander T. Martin, New York university pediatrician.

Dr. Martin yesterday told members of the Ohio State Medical association that instructors should become "health conscious," and report children who were losing weight, lacking in energy and below physical par.

The New York professor said these facts had become known concerning dread rheumatic fever:

(1) It is a disease of children; (2) it tends to recur; (3) it is closely associated with "group A" remolytic streptococcus; (4) it seems to occur in families; (5) it often is a disease of the lower income group, in which poverty, malnutrition, overcrowding, cold and unsanitary conditions are prevalent; (6) it is seasonal, with its peak in March, April and May, (7) often it is climatic, being uncommon in the tropics, and (8) it has a high death and crippling rate due to rheumatic infection.

ZANESVILLE THUMPS CUBS 7-5, 8-3 TO TAKE LOOP LEAD

Hustling Bums Outplay Locals As Home Runs Tip Balance

Special to The Star

ZANESVILLE, May 7—Zanesville's hustling Dodgers copped both ends of a twin bill from the Marion Cubs last night at Zanesville. A 7-5 victory was turned in in the first, while in the second game righthander Ed Privette tossed a two-hitter which was good for an 8-3 win.

The Cubs climbed on starter Jim Rodeghiero for five hits and five runs in the four and one-third innings he labored while the locals were tallying but two runs and two hits off righthander Frank Smith.

Old Timer Gets Victory

Lefty Bill Edwards, with the Dodgers in 1944, took over for Rodeghiero and doled out but one lone safety in two and two-third frames to be returned the winner when the Bryantmen rallied for victory. Edwards whiffed three Bruin batters in his stint and gave up but two free tickets.

After Dearmond spanked a homer, Zanesville scored two runs in the first inning. They were checked until the sixth with only 13 men coming to bat. The first inning runs were chalked up after two men were out when Joe Belcastro singled to center and romped home as Lollis Dearmond belted a 385-foot circuit clout over the centerfield barrier.

Score Two Runs

After Santo Luberto struck out and Dave Little, batting for Edwards, filed out, the locals picked up two runs on a single by Mike and consecutive doubles by Bartholomew and Belcastro.

Catcher Manager Nelson Burbrink spanked two three-baggers and a single for the Cubs which were good enough to drive in four runs.

Catcher Ray Dabek, a compact 150-pound righthand swinger, got the locals started in the second game as he drilled a tremendous homer over the left field wall, a good 385-foot poke.

Zanesville racked up four in the third canto and the game was sewed up. They added two needless runs in the fifth and another in the sixth.

Springfield Cops Loop Show with 3 Straight Homers

By The Associated Press

Zanesville's Dodgers whipped Marion's Cubs in both ends of a doubleheader last night to take first place in the Ohio State league, but Springfield's Giants stole the spotlight by blasting three consecutive home runs in one inning while trouncing Muncie, Ind., 16 to 4.

Dayton topped the Richmond Roses, 8 to 6.

Springfield's Gil Goldstone, Bill Scally and Bob Davis went to bat in order in the fifth inning of the Muncie contest and poled four-baggers. Carl Holser made an earlier Springfield homer in the third with two men on base to snap a scoreless tie.

Newark walked over Lima, 19 to 8, with Mike Bernadette driving in six runs and Charley Hopkins five.

Tonight the teams switch playing sites with Muncie moving into Dayton, Springfield to Richmond, Lima to Zanesville, and Marion to Newark.

Harding To Meet Columbus East In Diamond Tourney

Central district baseball tournaments start tomorrow afternoon on O. S. U. diamonds.

Harding Coach W. N. Wiley attended drawings for the tourney at the university yesterday afternoon and drew Columbus East as the first Prexy opponent. The schools are scheduled to meet tomorrow at 4 on O. S. U. No. 2 diamond. The winner of this game will play Columbus Central Friday afternoon.

Other tournament games scheduled for tomorrow are Arlington vs. Bexley, Linden McKinley vs. Columbus North, Circleville vs. Aquanis, Grandview vs. St. Charles, Columbus South vs. Columbus West.

All games are scheduled to start at 4. The second round of play is scheduled Friday, semi-finals will be held Saturday and the finals will be run-off Friday, May 16.

The Presidents will go into the tourney with only four games, three of them victories, played this season. On lack of condition, Coach Wiley is not too pessimistic. He says no team is beaten until the game has been played.

Jack Owens will probably draw the starting mound assignment tomorrow. This hurler is a junior with one year's experience.

Happy Chats—but Not About MacPhail

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., May 7—A chat with Chandler:

Everyone's guessing what A. B. (Happy) Chandler, the usually garrulous baseball commissioner, had to say to Leland Stanford (Larry) MacPhail, the equally voluble boss of the New York Yankees, at that secrecy-shrouded confab at Cincinnati last week.

Also everyone's trying to guess whether Happy has, or is going to, put the slug on the roaring redhead for any untoward and unannounced activities which might have been discussed at the six-hour 40-minute conversational marathon.

But Happy isn't saying anything, and neither is Larry—which certainly is an original attitude for either. The best guess is that there was a showdown of some sort inside the oak-paneled office of the commissioner, and that it will come to light before too long—perhaps with one of 'em bidding farewell to the national pastime.

Usual Genial Self

Happy was his usual genial self, filled with poise and politeness, not to mention that old southern charm, the day before the confab.

He was willing to talk about anything except what we wanted to talk about—that being the MacPhail case. So we chatted about this and that for an hour or more. Among the "on the record" remarks with which the former Kentucky governor and senator enlivened the conversation were:

1—That he wasn't kidding in Cleveland when he said baseball writers needed only "a pencil, a piec of paper and a little time" (He shouldn't have said it, either, for a lot of us have had the boss fooled for a long time regarding what a tough life this sports writing is.)

2—That Frank M. Colley, president of the Ohio State league, "is one of my best friends and I think a lot of him. I'm going to attend several games with him in his league this year." (He's right as rain about Colley, for everyone who knows Frank and his love for baseball feels the same way."

3—That he didn't come empty-handed to the job of baseball commissioner, but had a background which included college sports, a short fling at professional baseball as a player, and then quite a bit of softball. The softball angle appeared close to his heart, for he climbed from his big leather chair, placed his strong hands (he has hand-shaking muscles) around an imaginary bat, and illustrated with gestures and a' mighty swing how he hit a home run in the ninth off Gene Smith, Cincinnati pohtographer and softball hurler, to win a game for his hometown of Versailles. It must have been a mighty clout.

REDS FIND HITTING RANGE IN GIANT TILT

Whip N. Y. 11-6 as Walters Gets 192nd Win.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 7—The Redleg bats are booming again.

Recovering from a week-long slump in which they lost four consecutive games, the Cincinnati sluggers unleased a 12-hit attack yesterday against six Giant hurlers to trounce New York 11-6 at the Polo grounds.

A combination of 11 singles and a double, along with four Giant errors, gave Bucky Walters, veteran right-hander, his second victory in as many starts this season. It was his 192nd major league victory.

Catcher Ray Lamanno polled out two singles and a double that drove in four runs. Frankie Baumholtz, rookie rightfielder, collected three safeties and Clyde Vollmen made two and sent home three runners.

With a comfortable 9-3 lead, Walters weakened in the eighth, permitting three Giant markers, but Harry Gumbert took over and put out the fire.

The Reds have another go at the Giants today with Joe Beggs on the mound, seeking his first win. Bill Voiselle opposes him.

Brooklyn's Hugh Casey Going Strong In Role of Fireman; Williams, Reese Homer

By The Associated Press

John McGraw always maintained that one of the prime requisites of a championship club was a first class relief pitcher.

The Brooklyn Dodgers therefore should have one leg on the National league flag. For where is there a better "fireman" than huge Hugh Casey?

Batsmen have been able to accumulate a mere five base hits in the 11 innings Casey has toiled this season in seven games.

REESE

His latest win came yesterday at Ebbets field when he took over in the seventh inning and held the Cardinals scoreless to emerge with a 7-6 triumph.

In handing the Redbirds their twelfth defeat in 15 starts this season, the Brooks came from behind. A pinch hit triple by Carl Furillo with the bases loaded tied the count at 6-6 in the sixth and Pee Wee Reese slammed his first home run of the season in the seventh.

Chicago and Boston moved into a tie for second place, two games behind the Brooks, when the Cubs squeezed through with a 3-2 victory over the Phillies in Philadelphia and the Braves made their home night inaugural a success by blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0.

The Chicago White Sox saw their American league lead shrink to a half game when they lost a 3-0 game to the lowly Philadelphia Athletics while the Tigers were shading the New York Yankees in Detroit 3-2.

WILLIAMS

Big Ted Williams rang a merry tune, ringing out two homers and a single to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 8-5 11-inning triumph over the Browns in St. Louis. After tying the score in the ninth with his first circuit clout, Ted walloped another with two men on base in the eleventh to offset a two-run uprising by the Browns in their half.

Washington and Cleveland were not scheduled.

GRUDGE MATCH BETWEEN JAP AND RUFUS

Marion wrestling fans will have a double main event card for Thursday night at the Armory, one of the ninety minutes will be a grudge affair between Rufus Jones and Duke Keomuka. It started several weeks ago in a tag team match and last week the two tangled in the basement and the Jap wound up with a cut lip. He asked to be matched with the colored boy after their scuffle and so the match is set for Thursday night.

The other main event brings back Jackie Nichols, another popular favorite with the Marion fans. Jackie has signed to meet Bull Montana. These two matches should stack up two of the best seen here in a long time.

International Theme Carried Out As Marion Club Women Hold Annual Fine Arts Day

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Exhibits which encircled the globe in theme, were combined with music, pictures and talks for the "International" program presented at the seventeenth annual community fine arts day sponsored by the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday afternoon and last evening in the First Evangelical and Reformed church. A banquet following the afternoon session was a social feature of the program, and at this time winners in the "United Nations" exhibits, the poetry contest and the scrapbook displays were announced and two of the city's clubwomen, Mrs. W. N. Harder and Miss Lucille Foreman, were honored. Speakers for the occasion were Miss Laura M. Fulda of Cleveland, and Miss Leora Stroup, who recently returned from overseas service. Approximately 180 clubwomen and guests attended the banquet served in the church dining room and these were joined by many others to practically fill the main auditorium of the church for the evening program. Mrs. James Ralston, fine arts chairman, presided for the fine arts day festival.

In one large room where the flags of the United Nations provided a colorful setting, were displayed the exhibits reflecting the customs, arts and crafts of many peoples and lands. These were viewed by the clubwomen before the afternoon program and during the intermission preceding the banquet. The many interesting and valuable articles, combined with backgrounds, some from the countries chosen for the exhibit and others fashioned for the occasion, emphasized the cultural, commercial and economic relationship of the nations of the world.

Wins First Honors

First honors in the exhibit went to the Literature Study club for a display depicting Puerto Rico, second to LeMercure club for a display of Chinese craftsmanship and third to the Research club for a table of Mexican craft and wares. Honorable mention went to the Current Topic club for a table on the Holy Land, the Delphian club which chose Okinawa and third to the Round Table club for a display of articles from Mexico.

A display of Chinese art arranged by the Literary Arts club attracted a great deal of attention. Many of the articles represented the craftsmanship of the Ching dynasty and emphasis was given the influence of Western tourists in changing the Chinese art. Articles included a bell representing the highest ceremony in Chinese life, jewelry including jade, star ruby, diamonds and coral, imperial robes mandarins, wall hangings and many other valuable table pieces, wearing apparel and adornments. More than 60 articles made up the display.

The afternoon program opened at 3 o'clock with Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, president of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs presiding. The invocation was by Mrs. Dale Lawrence. For the musical part of the program Mrs. Clarence L. Rutherford, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harry T. Williams, sang a group of three numbers, "Less Than the Clouds," Teasdale-Milligan, "All Through the Night," an old Welsh composition and "When I Have Sung My Songs," Ernest Charles. Other music included two numbers by the Harding High school woodwind quintet.

Speaks on Art

Following a talk on the origin of fine arts day by Mrs. Ralston, Miss Laura Fulda, owner of an art studio, gave an informal talk on pictures and their place in the home and discussed picture appreciation. Miss Fulda, who is moving her studio to New York City soon, expressed the opinion that we of the middle west have as much appreciation of art as the easterners. She had with her many lovely engravings, wood prints, lithographs, originals and reproductions by English, French and American artists and in exhibiting them told where they were most decorative as well as best suited to their surroundings. The framing of pictures is secondary, she stated, and cautioned that when one looks at a picture and sees the frame first "there is something wrong." She discouraged the purchasing of pictures in pairs, since one generally likes one better than the other. A question period followed Miss Fulda's talk in which many interesting details on pictures and their place in the decorative theme of a home were brought out.

Miniature flags of the United Nations marked the places at the banquet and completing the table decorations were arrangements of spring flowers. The place favors were made by the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Ralston presided and following her greetings there was a roll call of clubs and past presidents. Members of the Seventh District Nurses association, with 20 members present, received an ovation for having the largest representation. Winners in the various displays and contests were announced by Mrs. Walter E. Hane. Awards in the displays of "United Nations," she stated were based on creative theme, originality, artistic arrangement and value. Mrs. Clare Smith, chairman, announced the following winners in the literary and scrapbook entries: poetry, Mrs. S. L. Leeka, Research club, first, Mrs. Stewart Vermillion, lecture-Recital Sesame and current topic, second; Mrs. Walter Haldeman, House and Garden club, Third; Mrs. Frank Detwiler, Delphian and Mrs. Mildred Wills, Lecture-Recital club, honorable mention. Scrapbooks: LeMercure club, arranged by Mrs. Walter E. Hane, first; Searchlight Literary club of Prospect, arranged by Mrs. Paul Keller, second and the Marion Art club, arranged by Mr. J. E. Crawmer, third. Honorable mention went to the Fortnightly Study club, the scrapbook being the work of Mrs. B. H. Morgan.

Student Presented

Mrs. Ralston paid tribute to Mrs. Harder as the founder of the Pan-American Fellowship, which has brought nine young women of South America to Ohio State university as students since its organization, and to Miss Lucile Foreman, whose essay dealing with a better understanding in bringing about world peace won her a trip to the United Nations conference last December. Mrs. Harder told of the founding of the Pan-American fellowship and presented Miss Norma Bolanos of Costa Rica, fellowship student who will receive her master's degree this year and plans to return to her home to carry on her work next fall. Miss Foreman briefly told of her trip to the conference how the sessions are conducted and of the many interesting people making up the conference group.

Music throughout the dinner hour was by Mrs. Fanny Benson, pianist, Homer E. Huffman, violinist, and George Laue, cellist. The invocation was by Mrs. Grover C. Snyder.

The evening program opened with a group of organ numbers by Mrs. Victor E. Dombaugh, in which the "United Nations" theme was carried out in the presentation of flags of the United Nations by Boy Scouts. Following two numbers, "March and Chorus" from Wagner's "Tannhauser" and "White Orchid" by Brown, she played themes of allied countries climaxing with the National Anthem.

The invocation was by Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of the host church, and a sextet composed of Mrs. Virginia Griffith, Mrs. Jane Iams, Miss Marilyn Sletvold, Miss Marguerite Gehrine, Mrs. Mildred Wills and Miss Maryanna LaPierre, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Katherine Mills at the piano and Mrs. A. O. Linscott, violinist sang "Hail, Ohio," the words and music of which are by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, "Romany," by Victor Herbert and "Prayer of the Norwegian Child," by Kountz. Completing the musical part of the program Mrs. Eleanor Smith, accompanied by Miss Rosaline Manzo, sang "Youth and Spring," "Stinel, "Caprice," Klemm, and "Bird Songs," by Curren.

Discusses Japan

Miss Stroup was the speaker for the evening program and discussed "International Relations." Providing a setting for her talk was an exhibit of Japanese dolls which she collected while serving as director of nurses in southern Korea occupied by the United States Army. Japan is a young nation compared to Korea which can trace its history 4,280 years, she told her audience, and added that the Japanese give credit to the Koreans for teaching them many things, including silk weaving, porcelain and mother of pearl work. Art in Japan made progress only as the rulers saw fit. Miss Stroup stated, pointing out that if the ruler was interested in beautiful things art prospered and if not, progress ceased. Japan still has her art centers and many old and valuable treasurers, which were not destroyed during the war. Designating Korea as America's stepchild, she said the people look to this country for guidance and example. The return of the missionaries is most welcome and the people are learning to speak English and also are returning to the use of their own language. She predicted that both Japan and Korea would soon be exporting and that before long their wares would be found on American shelves. Now that Japan is a defeated nation it will come back as a civilized and modern people, she believes.

At the close of her talk Mrs. Hane presented Miss Stroup with a gift from the fine arts committee, a bouquet of red roses from the Seventh District Nurses' association and a gift from the Marion county members of the Frances Payne Bolton School of Nurses at Western Reserve university of which both are graduates. Guests included Miss Stroup's sister, Mrs. George P. Hay and daughter, Carolyn, of Cleveland.

Assisting Mrs. Ralston were the following chairmen: Mrs. Hane, art; Mrs. Ackerman, music; Mrs. Smith, literature; Mrs. A. W. Kette, conservation; Miss Patsy Rauhauser, international relations; Mrs. Fillmore Young, program; Mrs. Sutherland, president of the federation; Mrs. W. N. Harder, Fellowship chairman and fine arts day founder; Miss Mabel Wheatley, state art chairman, Mrs. B. H. Buettin, social, and Miss Edna Dutton, publicity.

Judges of the booth exhibits were Miss Maud Gorham, Robert Coe and Elmer Slay, and of the scrapbooks Mrs. Ethel Miller, Carl Diebel and Dewitt Parrar. Mrs. Paul Alexander of Maumee judged the literary contest.

KENTON VOTES FOR SWIMMING POOL

$100,000 Bond Issue Given Large Majority.

Special to The Star

KENTON, May 7—Construction of a modern, Olympic type swimming pool here was assured today with passage yesterday of a $100,000 bond issue by a 76.3 per cent vote.

The primary election also gave Roy A. Martin the Republican nomination for mayor and Jay Eddy the Republican nomination for third ward councilman in the only two contests on the party tickets. In a write-in campaign Alfred Brindley received the Democratic nomination for solicitor.

Only other election in Hardin county was at Alger where a $98,000 school bond issue was passed.

The Kenton swimming pool bond issue carried over the 65 per cent majority required in 12 out of the 14 precincts. A total of 1,672 votes were cast for it and 519 against it. The issue will be financed by a .88 mill levy which will run for 20 years. The pool will measure approximately 165 by 75 feet and officials say it will be one of the most modern in this section of the country. No location has yet been chosen.

In the Republican race for mayor Martin received 541 votes, to win over his two opponents, Harold Spencer and Dr. W. P. Rickert. Spencer received 525 votes and Dr. Rickert 198.

Eddy defeated Elmer Diller, for the Republican nomination for Third ward councilman 230 to 70. Although the Democrats had no candidate for solicitor on the ballot, Brindley pulled 240 votes in a write-in campaign to receive the nomination.

In Alger's school bond election, the issue carried by a slim majority of four votes. The vote was 221 for and 111 against. The issue was defeated by a fraction of one per cent in the last November election.

It will finance the construction of a new combined grade and high school building.

A blind man, whose sight is restored by the Master, is brought to the bitter realization that his spirit has been as sightless as his eyes in "They Which See Not Shall See," the dramatization to be heard during the ABC broadcast of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" on Sunday, May 11, at 5:30 p. m. Based on the quotation of the Master, used as the title of Sunday's drama, the story tells of a blind beggar who is skeptical to the point of sarcasm when his son assures him that the Master can restore his eyes which had been sightless since birth. He finally is brought face to face with the Master, who performs the miracle of making the beggar see.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"MARY won't waken until morning," Katharine said serenely. 'You heard Dr Twitchell say that yourself But the good old doctor has provided for every emergency. In a box in my pocket are some 'spares' of emergency pills If she wakens, give her one, making sure she swallows it. She's foxy, is our Mary

"Here! I'll give 'em to you now," she said, handing a small box over ing with a girl dangerously near to me "But guard it! We're deal the breaking point, and we don't want her taking an extra sedative pill on her own account"

A Little Shiver

I could not help a little shiver Katharine 's keen eyes saw it, and she gripped my shoulders hard

"Look here!" she said "If you're getting the jitters, I'm sticking around here After all, Mary's pretty near your heart Your nursing her would be something like a physician attending his own family, and that's just never, never done, you know."

"'Don't be an anointed idiot just because you know how!" I quoted "I'm not jittery—much And Dicky is going to be with me every minute of the time after Faith goes to sleep, which will be early."

"I wouldn't leave you if he weren't," she said. Then, as I stiffened in her grasp, she gave me a little exasperated shake.

"Listen!" she said. "I'm not prescribing anything for you that I'm not planning for myself. I'm not yearning to be left alone with our Mary. Olga and Olina and Dicky, perhaps even Philip and Noel, are going to be a relay team, one of whom will always be in attendance, when either you or I are on duty. Does that satisfy you?"

Will Transfer Pills

"Entirely," I answered "And, incidentally, I think I'll transfer this box of pills to Dicky s waistcoat pocket"

"An excellent idea," she approved, and I looked at my wrist watch

"I must get back to the sitting room and speed my departing father," I said. "I'll come back and shoo you home as soon as he's gone."

"You'll not shoo me anywhere until I have a chance to give Faith some bear hugs," she said.

"In Junior's parlance, you'd have a fat chance of getting away from her," I returned, smiling "The first thing she did on spying Jack was to demand 'Where's Aunt Katharine?"

"The little sweetheart!" Katharine murmured fondly, and I left her smiling at the mental image of the child she loves so dearly, and who has been under her care since babyhood.

Father Leaves

Promptly on his scheduled minute, my father loosened Faith's clinging arms, promised her he would come back to see her in a day or two, and then, making an appointment with Jack to see him at the hideaway early the next morning, and calling Gus to meet him with the armored car a few doors down from the Lansfield, he left us.

Dicky and I went with him down to the basement of the hotel and through the underground cellars to the next street where the armored car waited. When he had gone, Dicky squeezed my arm tightly, and I knew that he was bolstering my fearful spirits, always harboring the dread of my father's advancing age

"He's the eighth wonder of the world, doubled," he said "I really believe he looks better this year than he did last"

I made myself believe him, and we hurried back to the apartment, where we found Jack and Faith once more engaged in the new game of solitaire which Jack was teaching her.

Not in the Running

"I wish you'd come down to our school and teach us Uncle Jack" she was saying as we opened the door "Our teachers are nice, of course, but they're strictly not in the running with you"

'Did you fish for that testimonial, Fella or did you get it for free?" Dicky demanded

"Absolutely unsolicited," Jack affirmed, and then I crossed the room to the bedroom

"I'm going to get Aunt Katharine now," I told Faith, and she clapped her hands together while her face was ecstatic

"That will be better than seeing Santa Claus, the reindeer and all the angels in Heaven!" she declared

LET'S SORT THIS OUT— BRIMMIE'S NEW RACKO IS NOT ONLY A CARBON COPY OF THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY OPERATOR IN THAT PORTRAIT, BUT HE ALSO RE-EMBLES THE BOY YOUR UNDERCOVER AGENTS HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR.
CHECK! THE RESEMBLANCE TO THE PAINTING I DON'T GET, BUT THE REST OF IT MAKES SENSE....THE FAT BOY HAS A RUSH-RUSH DEAL BREWING AND BRIMMIE FIGURES IT'S GOOD ENOUGH TO DECLARE HERSELF IN ON.
